MISS JOHNNIE MORRIS

Dedication

DEDICATED

to

MISS JOHNNIE MORRIS

In gratitude for her wise counsel in our work, her enthusiastic interest in our play, and her untiring assistance
in all our endeavors.

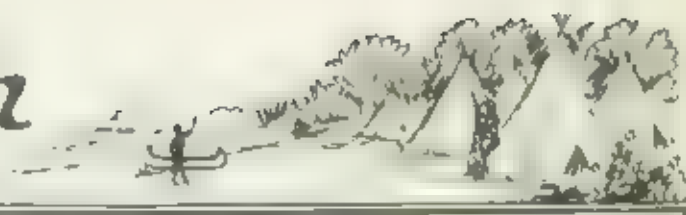

The Sequoyah

Foreword

THE SEQUOYAH, in the years that are gone, has been a source of ever-increasing pride. We, the Class of 1929, have tried to uphold this high standard set for us. But we have kept before us another goal, a course of strictest economy, to the end that we might leave behind us not one book, but many. For it has been our high privilege to initiate a library fund, with the hope that succeeding classes will continue to contribute to this cause.

We feel that we could leave no more lasting or imposing monument to our memory in Central High, nor could we bequeath a more priceless legacy to those who come after us. Be ours the joy of blazing a new trail; theirs the happiness of a dream soon realized.

MISS HASSIE K. GRESHAM, Principal

To the student, an inspirational guide along the pathway of knowledge; to the timid, an example of fearless courage; to the strong, an ally; to the ambitious, a friend; to the laggard, a spur; to the offender, an embodiment of law and righteousness; to the sorrowing, a sympathetic comforter; to the honored guest who comes from time to time within our gates, a comforting host—all this and more. Yes, one of the noblest of her race is Miss Hassie K. Gresham, our beloved Principal for ten years.

CLASS SONG

CHORUS:

The Sequoyah

CLASS POEM

By Mildred V. Floyd

Our Class is like an errant knight,
Who in his hand does bear
A banner 'broidered shining bright
With these two words, "Be square."

This knight is ever wise and good;
To truth he always swears;
To aid the helpless he does pause,
And happiness he shares.

Our knight has battled hard and long,
And he has faltered ne'er,
But waved his standard 'bove his head
With maxim brave, "Be square!"

Thus far and wide he wanders yet;
He all the danger dares.
His armor white is shining bright;
His charger, strong and fair.

He strives ahead and struggles still
Against all surging care,
And calls aloud his battle cry
In fearless tones, "Be square!"

And in his left hand tightly clasped
A laurel wreath he bears,
An emblem true of victory
And triumph over cares.

He labors on with upward gaze
However he does fare,
And puts his faith in heaven's aid
And in his cry, "Be square!"

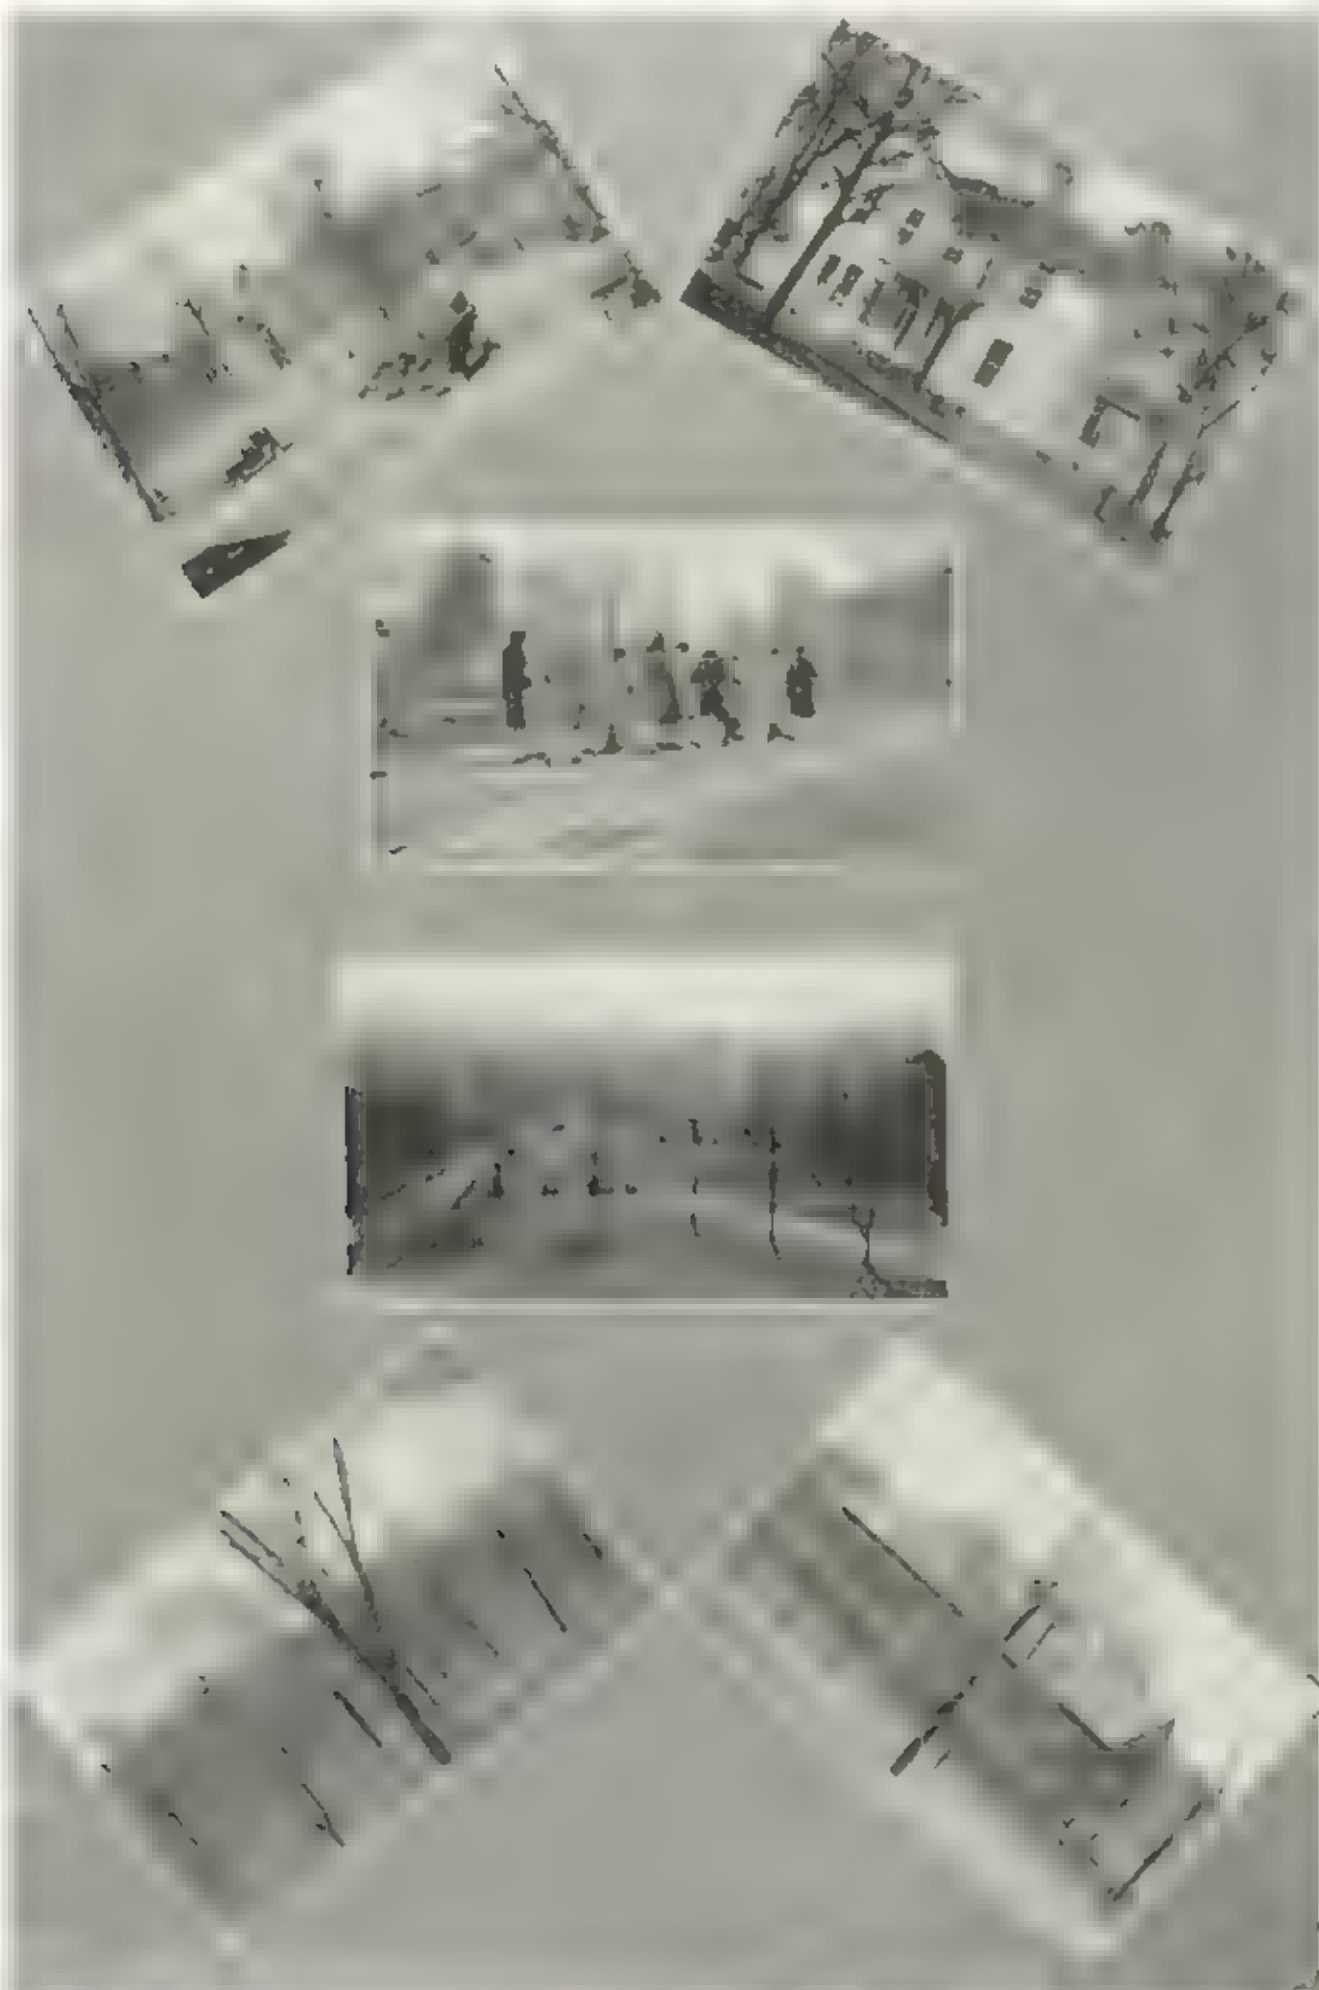

His friends admire him and his deeds,
His grace and strength so fair.
He raises ideals true on high,
And strives on toward them e'er.

Hark! we hear the beat of drums,
And trumpets' lusty blare,
And as the throng is greeting him,
There is a shout, "Be square!"

The Gresham Literary Society has been very busy this year in endeavoring to get a definite program of study established. Poetry, drama, prose and argumentation were studied experimentally. We are hoping that our successes next year will go more thoroughly into one or more of these various lines of literary work which we so briefly, but enjoyably, pursued.

FOOTBALL

Football practice began one week before the opening of school in September. At that time about fifty sturdy, eager and enthusiastic men reported for duty. It was with difficulty that Coach Banks selected from among these the first and second teams. Later in the season the squad was cut to twenty-five men.

The same zeal, vim and enthusiasm which marked the beginning prevailed throughout the entire season. Under the able leadership of Captain Howard Bearden the team won much credit for itself and for the school.

The following scores summarize the season's success:

September 15	_____	Oliver Springs	_____	0—Central 66

COACH M. B. BANKS

The past season proved no exception to the record established by Coach M. B. Banks during his two previous years as football mentor of Central High School. The Bobcat team produced by him went through the season undefeated by any Tennessee high school team, and with only one scoreless tie to mar an otherwise victorious year.

Coach Banks believes that spring football practice, introduced at Central last spring had no small part in making the different practice machine. He is holding strenuous workouts again this spring, for which many boys have reported.

For the first time in several years Central will have a track team. This team will compete in the County Track Meet organized by Coach Banks in his capacity as Director of Physical Education in Knox County.

Assistant Coach Frank Wininger, who developed the Bobcat basketball team this year, has ably assisted Coach Banks during his years at Central.

BASKET BALL GIRLS

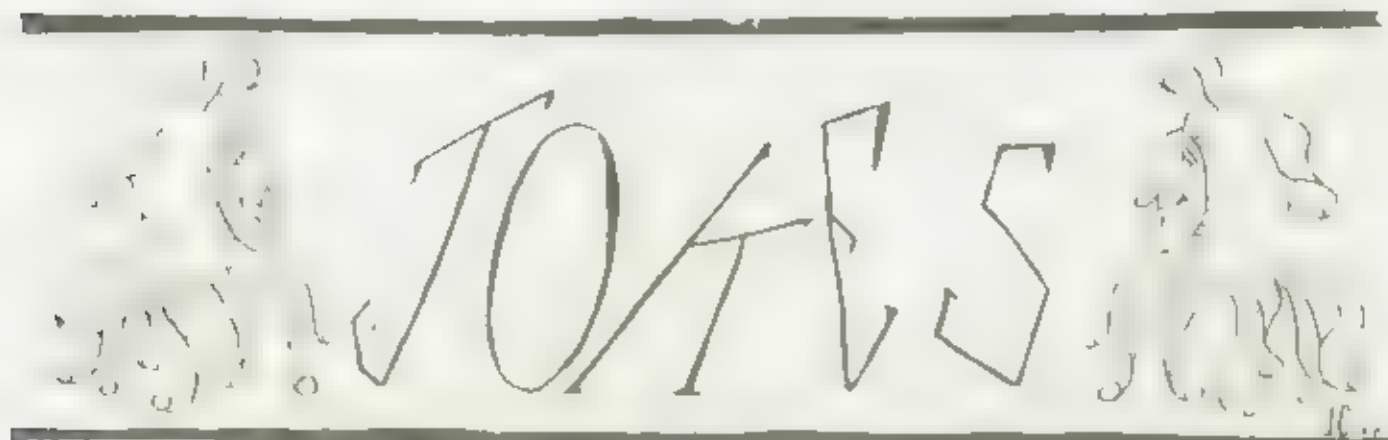

Coach—Mrs. Claude Mitchell

Early in the Fall, the Girls' Basketball team was organized under the direction of Mrs. Claude Mitchell, a former basketball star of the East Tennessee State Teachers College. As very little time had been devoted to girls' athletics for several years, it was necessary for Mrs. Mitchell to build an entirely new team from among the twenty candidates who reported for practice. Through her interest and untiring efforts a winning and successful team was organized.

The Sequoyah

IT IS A VERY SAD THOUGHT, GENTLE READER, THAT YOUR CHILDREN, TWENTY YEARS FROM NOW, WILL BE READING THESE SAME JOKES.

W. C. Towle—"Time will tell, darling, how your face swings the pendulum of my heart; each second, each minute, each hour, I long to kiss your hands. One movement of your lips makes me yours perpetually; I spring to the chimes of your voice, recoil to your strike. I——"

Marie Corbett—"Sap, you're being watched."

Our cheer leader knows a guy so tight that when we give three yells for the team, he gives only two.

Mildred McP.—"Soup?"

Howard W.—"Is it good soup?"

Mildred—"Yep, fourteen carrot."

Miss Weigel—"Don't you ever use any tooth pas

Grace Tindell—"No! None of my teeth are loose."

Sarah Emma—"Why is this car so late?"

Conductor—"Well, lady, the car in front was behind and we were behind besides."

Eva Lee Walker—"Comb your hair. Haven't you any pride?"

Bill Curnutt—"No, I haven't any comb."

In Cupid's vocabulary, silence has many definitions.

Boy Friend—"Why did you break your engagement with Johnnie Mor

Prince Charming—"I didn't show up one night, and she wanted me to bring a written excuse signed by my mother."

The '29 version of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" starts out "Here Comes the Bride."

Customer (in drug store)—"I want a little pink tablet."

Joe Cox—"What's your trouble?"

Customer—"I want to write a letter."

The Sequoyah

Furrier—"What you say may be true, sir; the furs are gone up in prices."
Customer—"I suppose because it costs the animals so much more to live, eh?"

Lena to Hartwell at a dance—"Shall we waltz?"
Hartwell—"It's all the same to me."
Lena—"Yes, I've noticed that."

Mr. Ketchum—"This blueberry pie looks queer, dear."
Mattie Lou—"Oh, maybe I put too much blueing in it."

"When a person is blind, his hearing is more acute," said Mr. Andes, explaining the law of compensation.

"I see," said Idris, "I've often noticed that if a man has one leg short, the other is always longer."

Miss Morris—"Billy, I suppose you are out a good deal now that you've got a car."
Billy H.—"Oh, yes—nearly fifteen hundred dollars."

Howard B.—"Jane certainly has a terrible cut to her hair."
Spud Q.—"Yes, if she's fishing for a husband, she'd better get another bobber."

Alf, on his return from a fishing trip—"Jane, we caught a nice string of pickerels today."

Jane—"How nice. Were they dill or sour pickerels?"

"Alma," asked Mr. Andes, "What is hereditary?"
Alma—"My clothes."

"When I was in China recently, I saw a woman hanging from a tree."
"Shanghai?"
"Yep, about five feet."

Benny—"Miss Wood is so kind-hearted."
Lucile Monroe—"How's that?"
Benny—"Well, she even puts apple on the mouse traps, so the mice get their right amount of vitamins."

Miss Wood—"Are there any vitamins in lettuce?"
Jane C.—"Yes, nearly all vegetables have some sort of insects on them, but they can be washed off."

Gwennie W.—"I spent nine hours on my geometry last night."
Mr. Jones—"How so?"
Gwennie—"I put it under my pillow and slept on it."

Charles Calloway (driving his Ford)—"Hear that bearing knocking?"
Mary Scott—"That's no bearing. It's my knees."

Absence makes the heart go wander.

The Sequoyah

Mr. Andes—"How does the moon affect the tides?"

Alf Bunch—"It doesn't affect the tides; it affects the untied."

Time (before marriage)—"He caught her in his arms."

Time (after marriage)—"He caught her in his pockets."

Police Sergeant—"So you want us to find your wife. Is that it?"

Mr. Searle—"Er-no, thank you."

Police Sergeant—"Well, why do you come?"

Mr. Searle—"Because if she came back and found I hadn't done anything about it, she'd half kill me."

Mr. Jones, to Mr. Searle—"Last year my wife and I agreed that I should decide all the major questions and she should settle all the minor ones."

Mr. Searle—"And how has the plan worked out?"

Mr. Jones—"I hardly know, because it seems that so far no major questions have come up for consideration."

Miss Wood—"I don't look like myself at all in this new hat."

Mr. Brickey—"No, you have made a wise selection."

Louise Truan—"How far were you from the right answer, Bill?"

Bill Dobbins—"Just four seats."

Miss Weigel (in Biology)—"What animal makes the nearest approach to man?"

John Shattuck—"The mosquito."

Husband (to doctor on telephone)—"My wife has a severe pain in the back of her neck, and complains of a sort of soreness in her stomach."

Doctor—"She has malarial colic."

Husband—"What shall I do for her?"

Here "central" switched on a machinist who was talking to a man about a boiler.

Machinist—"I think she is covered with scales inside about an inch thick. Let her cool down during the night, and before she fires up in the morning take a hammer and pound her thoroughly all over."

And so the doctor never knew why he lost his patient.

Miss Gresham—"A dog fills an empty place in a man's life."

Harold D.—"Yeh! Especially a hot dog."

Miss Major—"What is a budget?"

Yarnell Hicks—"As nearly as I can tell, it's a system of worrying before you spend instead of afterwards."

The Sequoyah

Russell Clark—"What is the board of education, dad?"

Mr. Clark—"Well, son, when I went to school it was an oak paddle."

Benny E.—"Dad, I've decided to become an artist."

Mr. E.—"No objections, provided you don't draw on me."

Mr. Searle—"I wish I had one of those crisp rolls that mother used to make."

Mrs. Searle—"Yes, and I wish you had a few crisp rolls such as father used to put in the bank."

Bob Nichols—"I'd like to do something big and clean in this world."

Idris Hill—"How about washing an elephant?"

Little Johnny (looking curiously at visitor)—"Where did the chickens bite you? I don't see any marks."

Visitor—"Why, Johnny, I haven't been bitten by any chickens."

Johnny—"That's funny; I heard father tell mother you were awfully henpecked."

Traffic Cop—"What's your name?"

Truck Driver—"It's on the side of me wagon."

Cop (trying to read the name)—"It's obliterated."

Driver—"Yer a liar! It's O'Brien."

"Now," said Mr. Andes when he had finished his lecture on the functioning of the memory, "I want to ask each member of the class to make a note of every point he has remembered. Those of you who can't remember any of the points will please jot down those you have forgotten."

Miss Gresham—"Remember, my young man, a great deal depends upon the formation of early habits."

Idris Hill—"I know that from experience, Miss Gresham. When I was a baby my mother hired a woman to wheel me about, and I have been pushed for money ever since."

Mr. Brickey (in Economics)—"When is a fortune not a fortune?"

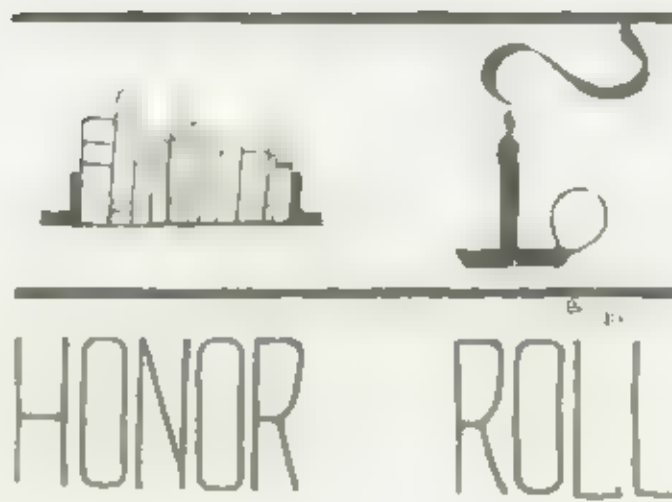

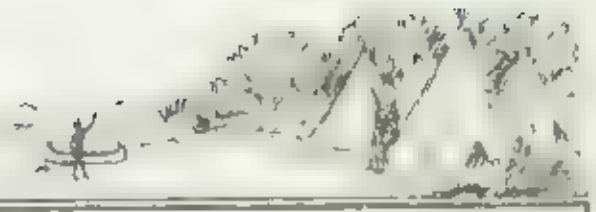

Clyde Cole—"When the income tax man is around."

Mother—"After I get you safely through college you'll probably marry some fool girl."

Son—"Why not? My father did."

Winners of B. U. Degree

An annual event of much interest is the campaign for the B. U. Degree, or the Bachelor of Ugliness. Candidates of the four classes are presented by Speakers, who vie with one another in eloquent oratory. The hall resounds with the impassioned utterances of a Patrick Henry or the humorous and sarcastic sayings of a Mark Twain or Will Rogers.

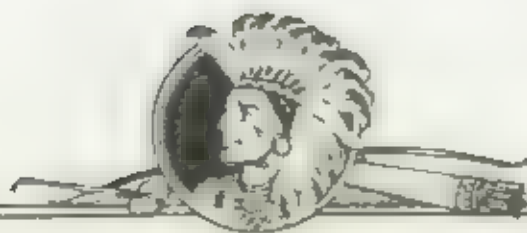

Worthily the decision this year was one of victory for the Freshman Class.

The Sequoyah

Love, love, love is a game,
That should be played by two,
For when more take a hand
There's trouble, there's trouble for you.

Hearts are the trumps,
But diamonds have their share;
Oh, play for all you're worth,
But play it on the square.

CALENDAR

School Session 1928-1929

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 3—We again returned to school
To find Miss Gresham at her stool.

Sept. 10—Miss Anderson is a good 'un,
For she starts feeding us puddin'.

Sept. 29—School day at the Fair, and we must be merry.

OCTOBER

Oct. 3—The teachers began giving test
Which could not be treated with jest.

Oct. 10—Miss Gresham gives us a blessin'
Hoping to teach us a lesson.

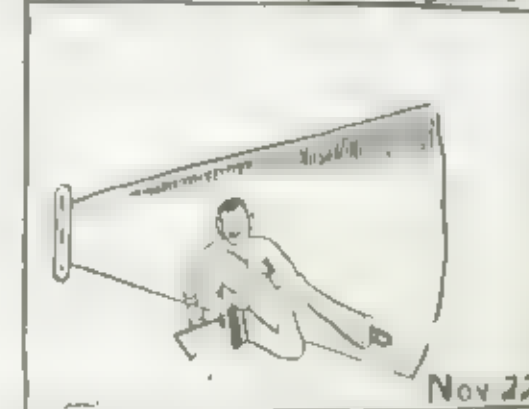

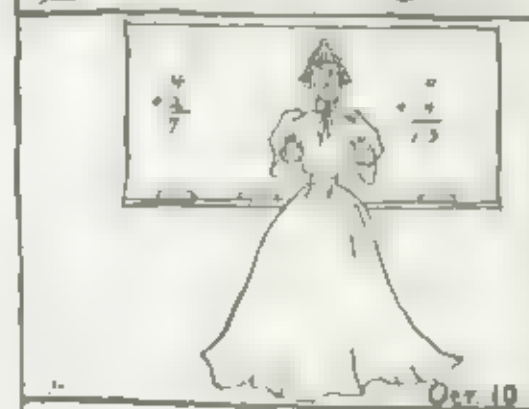

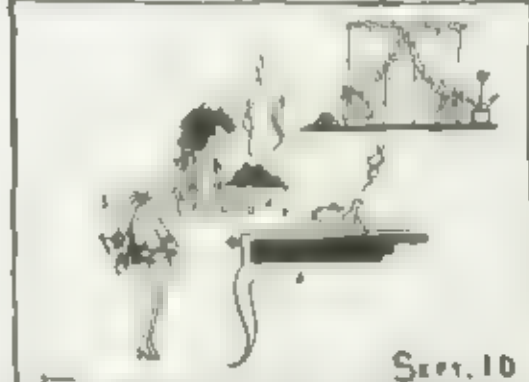

Oct. 18—Poor Seniors catch it on every side
For drifting with the tide.

Oct. 22—The faculty met together
In the beautiful October weather.

Oct. 26—No school! Oh, gee!
We are so full of whoopee!

NOVEMBER

Nov. 22—We selected our cheer leaders without delay
To lead us on a certain day.

The Sequoyah

Nov 24

Dec 14

Jan 2

Jan 7

NOVEMBER

Nov. 24—The football game of Central vs. Knoxville High,
Sad but true a scoreless tie.

Nov. 28—The groups of Hicks and Moore
Gave fruit baskets to the poor.

DECEMBER

Dec. 5—Miss Ellis and the Seniors decide some dolls to dress,
Poor things! They did their best.

Dec. 6—Miss Rothrock gives a lecture
On the workings of nature.

Dec. 14—Flu, flu, flu; oh, that dreadful flu.

Dec. 17—We had some extra holidays before the Xmas rush.
The reason was this old flu about
That made us sick without a doubt.

Dec. 31—Glad the holidays are ended,
And the flu has been suspended.

JANUARY

Jan. 2—Miss Anderson decided not to let her menu droop.
Therefore she began serving cream and tomato soup.

Jan. 3—Miss Gresham the schedule of exams announces,
And everyone starts bouncing.

Jan. 4—Chapel! Judge Grimm speaks;
To Miss Gresham's surprise, everyone sleeps.

Jan. 7—Then comes a week of exams,
Which means that we must cram.

Jan. 19—The Girl Reserves' Reception,
Of all events it was an exception.

Jan. 23—The Staff starts on its way toward the loop,
And to cap the stack, half burns the soup

Jan. 24—The Senior rings at last arrived,
We were determined not to be deprived.

The Sequoyah

JANUARY

Jan. 25—The B. U. candidates were selected
After their ugliness had been detected.

Jan. 28—Senior pictures were taken,
But beauty was almost lackin'.

Jan. 30—We all received a blessin'
That was not served with drinkin'.

FEBRUARY

Feb. 1—Mrs. Wagner delivered a very complex lecture
Which might have been called a "Duke's" mixture.

Feb. 11—Now that the B. U. degree is at an end
We hope we'll have some money to lend.

Feb. 13—We are reseated in the Study Hall,
And Miss Gresham hands out the law.

Feb. 16—My! That delicious chicken dinner
We ate until we almost became sinners.

MARCH

Mar. 12—We chose the best invitations
In order to avoid imitations
Of the Senior Classes heretofore,
Who disappeared into the world's open door.

Mar. 15—"Fickle Fortune," the Senior play,
Was given in a very artistic way.

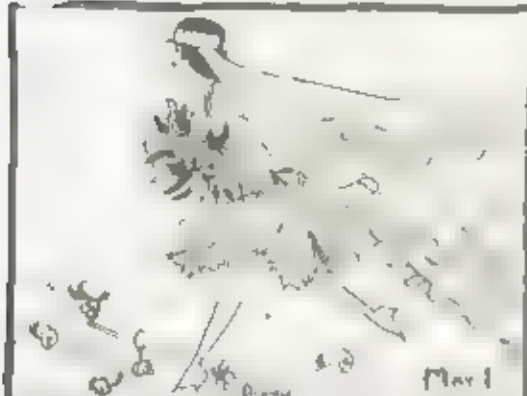

Mar. 18—Now name the candidate for May Queen,
None of whom should be ashamed to be.

Mar. 21—Exams on American History
Ended in a very great mystery.
Some of the Seniors escaped the historic loom,
Perchance it might have been their doom.

The Sequoyah

APRIL

- April 1—They say today is all fool's day.
Be careful as you go along your way.
- April 8—Today the May Queen contest closes.
We will know whom to deck with roses.
- April 9—"Aaron Slick from Punkin' Crick."
My! You should hear those Sophomores shriek.
- April 10—The Annual goes to press
For last touches on its dainty dress.

MAY

- May 1—On this occasion the king with many smiles
Places on the head of May Queen the crown.
The bells for miles around
Will tell of her glorious renown.
- May 15—RECEPTION.
Last but not least comes the reception we gave the June.
- May 21—CLASS NIGHT.
We all arrayed in fine attire;
Got our fill of stage desire.
With songs and plays,
We did display the ending of our high school days.
- May 23—COMMENCEMENT.
All arrayed in school physique,
To fight life's battles through.
We listened to the professor speak
Of what profession or course to pursue,
After they delivered to us our sheepskins,
The orchestra played "God be with you till we meet again."
- May 24—Farewell, dear Central High,
We're glad to play out under the sky,
Carefree from books and very happy,
We'll get some "Pep" and be more snappy.

MR. DAVIS AND CHARLES

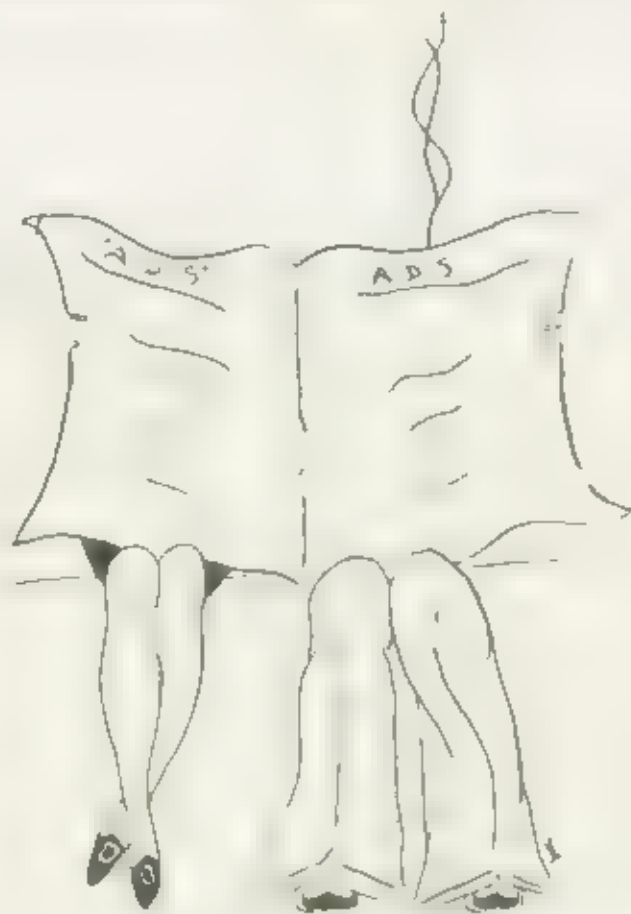

Mr. Davis and Charles, our custodians for the past three years, have been very faithful in executing their duties to the school and its constituents. They have gone about their duties each day with smiles and kind words for everyone.

Living examples are they of the fine old adage:

If a task is once begun never leave it till it's done;
Be the labor great or small, do it well or not at all.

The Management of the Knoxville Business College has always endeavored to inspire its pupils to attain the highest ideals.

When a business man called at the office the other day for office help, he said "I want a young man for this position who, within the next four to six years, will be able to manage one of our branch offices."

The Knoxville Business College is training young men and young women for this kind of leadership.
